

THE INVESTMENT FORUM

16-17 April 2018

Privacy Policy Clause

Foundation Institute for Eastern Studies respect the right to protect personal information about its customers and visitors to this site. Described here for the Privacy clause defines who we are, what kind of data we collect and store, and how we can use them. The clause also contains information about how to contact us in case you have questions or concerns about information of a personal nature provided to us.

Organizer

This website is maintained by the Foundation Institute for Eastern Studies active in the field of co-operation among European countries, especially in Central and Eastern Europe. Various projects conducted at different levels have been adding to creation and development of political, economic, cultural and scientific ties among states in the region. The most important and long-term umbrella project of the IES is the Economic Forum.

What information do we collect and how we use it?

Personal information we collect, come only from you. The information collected typically includes your name, address, invoice and other data that can be expressed in the questionnaires, filling of which we asked you during registration. We may also collect detailed information about your preferences when you visit the page. Your personal information will be used to provide you the highest quality of service before and during organized by us conferences and congresses. Please note that you can always resign from the service we offer (see Contact Us).

Contact us

If you want to supplement your personal information that we currently hold or if you do not agree to continue to store the submitted data, please contact us by sending an email to registration@isw.org.pl We will make every effort to meet this request.

External sites

Sometimes our website may contain links to other sites that are not managed by the Foundation Institute for Eastern Studies. We always try to ensure that websites recommended by us maintain equally high standards of data protection, although we cannot accept responsibility for any information you choose to disclose on the websites, which are not managed by the Foundation Institute for Eastern Studies.

Cookies

Cookies are small text files downloaded from Internet sites on your computer to track network activity of users. Cookies are not used to obtain confidential or personal information, and are used to record data about your visit, which allows us to customize the settings and content site for your needs. If you do not agree to store cookies, you can prevent their entry by following the manufacturer's instructions used by your browser.

Data security

Foundation Institute for Eastern Studies - organizer of the Economic Forum take reasonable precautions to prevent loss, unauthorized access, use, modification or disclosure of any personal data entrusted to us. Implemented Privacy Policy, and trained employees additionally improve the safety of your data.

Access to personal data

Under the current law on personal data protection you are entitled to know what information organization holds about and how they are processed. If you want to check the contents of your personal data which we hold, please e-mail to registration@isw.org.pl